(And let us worry about the details)

From the Rainforest

Panama is home to more types of birds, than the US and Canada combined

Only a short car-ride from La Isabela, you can find one of nature's most unique natural environments and habitats. The beautiful Gamboa rainforest covered year-round by green tree canopies, and lush vegetation offers astounding bio-diversity of wildlife, including colorful butterflies, toucans, sloths, howler monkeys, and the Chagres River that runs through the city, the rainforest, and makes up what is the Panama Canal.

Put the jungle at your feet – from $ 160 per person

Ascending some 280 feet from the shadowy forest floor through the dense undergrowth and up to the sun-drenched canopy with its thousand shades of green that are only interrupted by the vibrant colors of flowering trees this the first and only tram in Panama.

Indigenous cultures

The name Embera means "people". Collectively they are known as the Chocó and belong to two major groups: the Embirá, of upper Atrato and San Juan rivers, and the Wuanana of the lower San Juan River. The tribe has appeared on screen in at least two Hollywood films. The first appearance was in Roland Joffé's The Mission, in which they portrayed the Guarani living in the Iguazu Falls region of Argentina during the Guaraní War in the 18th century. Later they portrayed the Taíno and Carib in Ridley Scott's 1492: Conquest of Paradise.

From the City

Walking through History

To facilitate the flow of gold from the Pacific to Spain, the Spanish conquistadores founded the town of Panama in 1519. After the original town was ransacked by the notorious pirate Henry Moore in 1617, the Spanish relocated to the more easily defended peninsula and founded Casco Viejo. The historical record is unclear, but La Isabela was built in approximately 1857. Our not-your-typical-guide (UNESCO certified) will bring you to an exclusive-non-typical tour. You will walk the Secret Casco to know the History and the Stories of this magical placed declared World Heritage Site in 1997, and will finish in our famous Fish Market to get your fresh Panamanian ceviche. Like a true local!

Only $35 per person

From The Canal

Controversial. Revolutionary. Amazing

It has been called the 8th Wonder of the World... and with good reason!

The story of the building of the Panama Canal is one of power, personality, technology, political deception and the tragic death of thousands. It stands as a monument to mankind's ingenuity and power of conviction that changed the political and physical geography of the planet.

Finished in 1914, It took 250,000 people from all corners of the globe, the death of more than 25,000, and more than 10 years to build. The Canal is a 40-mile chain of deep channels, thousand-foot long locks and man-made lakes stretching over the Continental Divide from ocean to ocean.

And in the last 102 years, it has not stopped working a single day.

Visiting the Panama Canal is a unique experience which can't be reproduced anywhere else in the world.

See 50,000 tons' ships rise and drop more than 50 feet as they make their way through Panama from one ocean to another, and learn about the history and future of this marvel of modern engineering.

*From $124
